Rick Nelson, athletic director and instructor at Northland Community and Technical College, has recently received a 2000-2001 Fellow of the Japan Society Local Government and Public Policy Fellowship nomination.

Nelson was nominated by Minnesota State Senator Leroy Stumpf, who recognized Nelson for his leadership in government policy, education lobbying and democratic campaigning.

The Fellowship is intended for experienced professionals who implement and formulate public policy, particularly at the regional, state and local levels, and is designed to give future American leaders firsthand exposure to Japan and to the issues affecting the relationship between the two countries.

Nelson was honored to receive the nomination. "It is a privilege to be recommended for such a prestigious fellowship," Nelson said. "The United States and Japan are major players in world economic politics. The work of the Japan Society allows individuals throughout the U.S. to become more familiar with eastern business practices, and I'm flattered that Senator Stumpf would allow me that opportunity."

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of NCTC, was also pleased to learn of Nelson's nomination. "Rick has worked diligently on behalf of the College and our community at our State Capitol. His campaigning efforts have heightened the importance of political involvement amongst students and have benefited the College."---
